Abraham Lincoln

As one of the most beloved figures in American history, the story of Abraham Lincoln's life and times has grown into a rich legend. More books have been published about Lincoln than any other United States President. The courage, tragedy and tenacity, combined with wisdom and heart, makes him a continuing inspiration for all of us.

Abraham Lincoln was born in Hardin County, Kentucky, Feb. 12, 1809, and moved to Indiana, where his mother died, in 1816. Although he had less than a year's formal schooling, his great interest in reading provided him with a basic education. He worked as a postmaster and surveyor before starting his law practice in Springfield, Ill. In 1846 he was elected to Congress and served one term.

His destiny for high political office first became evident with the national attention attracted by Lincoln's debate with Senator Stephen A. Douglas in 1858. Lincoln's anti-slavery speeches, and his humanitarian spirit, earned him the 1860 Republican nomination. The split in the Democratic Party insured his election.

What followed was one of the bloodiest wars in history — the scars of which have not yet completely healed. After enduring the agonies of the war, climaxed by emancipating (freeing) the slaves and saving the Union, Lincoln was assassinated by a crazed actor. The date: April 14, 1865, just five days after Confederate General Robert E. Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

Note to Solvers

The twenty-six letters in our alphabet can make up all the words we will ever need — words to say what we want, words to say what we see, and words to describe how we feel.

These are the magic building blocks of knowledge.

Like the blocks with which you may have played in kindergarten, word blocks can build all sorts of things.

In these puzzles you will find, we hope, a little bit of the magic that happens when you play with the blocks and pieces of words and letters.

Note to Parents and Teachers

Crossword puzzles are, of course, a familiar source of recreation to adults. The devotee can readily find books and other publications consisting entirely of puzzles. But now, more than that, leading educators and many members of school faculties throughout the nation are employing the crossword puzzle as a teaching tool.

The educator and the concerned parent are aware that solving word puzzles involves reading skills. A knowledge of synonyms and the ability to spell words correctly are important factors in their solution.

The puzzles in this book have been constructed by, and under the supervision of, experienced educators and practicing schoolteachers. Definitions and solutions are based upon authoritative word lists published by the Board of Education of New York City. In their construction, we have been concerned not only with the accepted word requirements for the appropriate grade, but also with the child's hidden vocabulary.

We are aware that word-knowledge — for both children and adults — changes and expands, as does the world around us. Today, not only technical knowledge and information about objects, but the adult world of ideas and relationships, are within the purview of children.

The sequence of puzzles are designed to become progressively more difficult as the solver becomes more adept. Both definitions and solutions have been devised to introduce new word usage and spelling skills.

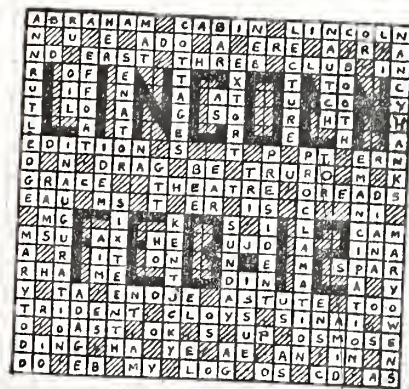

Here, then, is a book which should provide your child or student with many hours of well-spent fun while stimulating the learning process.

TO PUZZLE-KIX No. (4).
TURN THE PACKAGE UP-
SIDE DOWN! (No fair peeking!)

- 3 tbsp. butter
- 1 tbsp. minced onion
- 4 tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 cups (½ L) chicken broth
- ½ cup (1 dL) finely chopped celery
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 cups (½ L) cubed cooked chicken
- 2 egg yolks, lightly beaten
- Salt

Melt the butter in a saucepan and add the onion. Cook, stirring, until soft. Stir in the cornstarch and cook over medium-low heat until smooth and blended. Slowly add the chicken broth, celery, lemon juice, and chicken. Cook, stirring, for 3 to 4 minutes. Beat ¼ cup of the hot sauce into the yolks and then return the yolk-sauce mixture to the saucepan. Cook for 1 minute more and add salt to taste. Serves 3.

LITTLE JOE'S

This is a version of a very popular San Francisco dish and is one of Marion Cunningham's favorites.

- 3 tbsp. oil
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 pound (450 kg) lean ground beef
- 1 pound (450 kg) spinach, rinsed, blanched (plunged into boiling water), well drained, chopped
- Salt
- Tabasco
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 4 tbsp. freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Heat the oil in a large skillet, add the onion, and cook over medium heat until soft. Add the beef, mixing it with the onion and breaking it up into small bits with a fork; cook until the redness is gone. Add the spinach and mix well. Stir and cook for 3 to 4 minutes, then add salt to taste. Mix a dash or so of Tabasco with the eggs, then pour them over the beef mixture and stir until the eggs are set. Remove from heat and put on a warm platter. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Serves 6.

STEAMED LING COD WITH SOY AND GINGER

Recipes for fish have undergone considerable change. Reflecting the current American trend, the chapter about fish and shellfish is now more varied and extensive than in any of the other editions, and the recipes are more interesting, such as this new one for steamed fish with Oriental seasonings. In spite of its name, ling cod is not a member of the cod family. It is a Pacific fish sold whole or in fillets, fresh or frozen. It is excellent roasted, broiled, or steamed.

- 3-pound (1½-kg) ling cod, dressed
- 6 scallions, in 1-inch pieces
- 4 slices fresh ginger root, in ½-inch slivers
- 4 tbsp. vegetable oil
- ½ tsp. Oriental sesame oil
- 1 tsp. soy sauce
- 3 tbsp. dry sherry

Rinse the fish under cold water and pat dry. Make four or five 1½-inch incisions to the bone on each side of the fish. Put the scallions and ginger inside the cavity. If you do not have a steamer, use a roasting pan with a heatproof platter or rack to support the fish above boiling water. Lightly oil the steamer, platter, or rack to prevent the fish from sticking. Place the fish on the steamer, cover, and cook 20 to 25 minutes, until the flesh is opaque. In a small saucepan, whisk together the vegetable oil, sesame oil, soy sauce, and sherry. Heat the sauce and spoon it over each portion of steamed fish. Serves 4.

MARMALADE SOUFFLÉ

This dish graced many tables during the servantless days of the late 1930's and 1940's and was considered a "ritzy" addition to any dinner. A splendid solution for the cook who is also the host, it will hold much longer than the hour of cooking time and will not collapse if a draft nips it.

- Sweet butter
- 3 egg whites
- 3 tbsp. sugar
- 3 tbsp. orange marmalade
- Grated rind of 1 orange
- Sherry

Start some water simmering in the bottom of a double boiler and grease the top part of the double boiler with sweet butter. Beat the egg whites in a large bowl until foamy, then slowly add the sugar and continue beating until the whites are stiff. Gently fold in the marmalade and orange rind. Spoon into the buttered pot. Cover and cook over (not in) barely simmering water for an hour. Serve with whipped cream flavored with a touch of sherry. Serves 4 to 6. 26
